

Wimbledon School of English London

Family Holiday Course (mid June – August)

This course is designed for parents and children who wish to study in the same location. Parents join our full-time General English course, while the children will study in closed groups, arranged by age and level. The children have classes every morning, from 9.15 – 12.55, and on two afternoons a week (while their parents are in class) they are accompanied on enjoyable, stimulating activities, such as games on the Common or a trip to the London Aquarium.

Children's Course Content

Students study in fun, hard-working classes with other children of a similar age and level. They will learn real English, using the most up-to-date books and materials, and be given the opportunity to review what they have learned on a daily basis. The classes are very active, with role-plays and discussions as well as traditional teacher-led study, and the students will discover a wide range of techniques to improve all the skills: Reading, Writing, Listening, and Speaking.

All students have a tutorial with their teacher to discuss progress and future study. Up to 2 hours self-study will be set per night.

For Parents' course content, please see our information on General English courses.
